GAINESVILLE, FLORIDA, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1909

TEN CENTS A WEEK

MESSAGE OF PRESIDENT TAFT TO THE SIXTY-FIRST CONGRESS

Washington, Dec. 8.—In his annual message, read to congress, President Taft said:

The Senate and the House of Representatives: The relations of the United States with all foreign governments have continued upon the normal basis of amity and good understanding and are very generally satisfactory.

Europe.

The American rights [in the fisheries of the north Atlantic coast] under the fisheries article of the treaty of 1818 have been a cause of difference between the United States and Great Britain for nearly seventy years. The interests involved are of great importance to the American fishing industry. The final settlement of the controversy [by the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague] will remove a source of constant irritation and content. This is the first case involving such great international questions which has been submitted to the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague.

Negotiations for an international conference to consider and reach an agreement providing for the preservation and protection of the fur seals in the north Pacific are in progress with the governments of Great Britain, Japan and Russia. The attitude of the governments interested leads me to hope for a satisfactory settlement of this question as the ultimate outcome of the negotiations.

The Near East.

The quick transition of the government of the Ottoman empire from one of retrograde tendencies to a constitutional government with a parliament and with progressive modern policies of reform and public improvement is one of the important phenomena of our times. Constitutional government seems also to have made further advance in Persia. These events have turned the eyes of the world upon the near east. In that quarter the prestige of the United States has spread widely through the beneficial influence of American schools, universities and missionaries. There is every reason why we should obtain a greater share of the commerce of the near east since the conditions are more favorable now than ever before.

Latin America.

One of the happiest events in recent American diplomacy was the peaceful, independent settlement by the governments of Bolivia and Peru of a boundary difference between them, which for some weeks threatened to cause war and even to entrain international complications affecting other republics directly concerned.

Our Citizens Abroad.

This administration, through the department of state and the foreign service, is lending all proper support to legitimate and beneficial American enterprises in foreign countries, the degree of such support being measured by the national advantages to be extended. A citizen himself cannot by contract or otherwise divest himself of the right, nor can this government escape the obligation, of his protection in his personal and property rights when these are unjustly infringed in a foreign country. To avoid needless vexations it is proper that in considering whether American enterprises should be encouraged or supported in a particular country the government should give full weight not only to the national as opposed to the individual benefits to accrue, but also to the fact whether or not the government of the country in question is in the administration and in its diplomacy faithful to the principles of moderation, equity and justice upon which alone depends international credit in diplomacy as well as in finance.

The Monroe Doctrine.

The pan-American policy of this government has long been fixed in its principles and remains unchanged. With the changed circumstances of the United States and of the republics to the south of us, most of which have abundant natural resources, stable governments and progressive ideals, the apprehensions which gave rise to the Monroe doctrine may be said to have disappeared, and neither the doctrine as it exists nor any other doctrine of American policy should be permitted to operate for the perpetuation of irresponsible government, the escape of just obligations or the insidious allegation of dominating ambitions on the part of the United States.

My meeting with President Diaz and the greeting exchanged on both American and Mexican soil served, I hope, to signalize the close and cordial relations which so well bind together this republic and the great republic immediately to the south, between which there is so vast a network of material interests.

I am happy to say that all but one of the cases which for so long vexed our relations with Venezuela have been settled within the past few months and that, under the enlightened regime now directing the government of Venezuela, provision has been made for arbitration of the remaining case before The Hague tribunal.

On July 30, 1909, the government of Panama agreed, after considerable negotiation, to indemnify the relatives of the American officers and sailors who were brutally treated, one of them having, indeed, been killed by the Panamanian police this year.

This government was obliged to intervene diplomatically to bring about arbitration or settlement of the claim of the Emery company against Nicaragua, which it had long before been agreed should be arbitrated. A settlement of this troublesome case was reached by the signature of a protocol on Sept. 18, 1909.

Many years ago diplomatic intervention became necessary to the protection of the interests in the American claim of Alsop & Co. against the government of Chile. The government of Chile had frequently admitted obligation in the case and had promised this government to settle it. There had been two abortive attempts to do so through arbitral commissions, which failed through lack of jurisdiction. Now, happily, as the result of the recent diplomatic negotiations, the governments of the United States and of Chile, actuated by the sincere desire to free from any strain those cordial and friendly relations upon which both set such store, have agreed by a protocol to submit the controversy to definitive settlement by his Britannic majesty Edward VII.

The Nicaraguan Trouble.

Since the Washington conventions of 1907 were communicated to the government of the United States as a consulting and advising party this government has been almost continuously called upon by one or another and in turn by all of the five Central American republics to exert itself for the maintenance of the conventions. Nearly every complaint has been against the Zelaya government of Nicaragua, which has kept Central America in constant tension or turmoil. The responses made to the representations of Central American republics as due from the United States on account of its relation to the Washington conventions have been at all times conservative and have avoided, so far as possible, any semblance of interference, although it is very apparent that the considerations of geographic proximity to the canal zone and of the very substantial American interests in Central America give to the United States a special position in the zone of these republics and the Caribbean sea.

I need not rehearse here the patient efforts of this government to promote peace and welfare among these republics, efforts which are fully appreciated by the majority of them who are loyal to their true interests. It would be no less unnecessary to rehearse here the sad tale of unspeakable barbarities and oppression alleged to have been committed by the Zelaya government. Recently two Americans were put to death by order of President Zelaya himself. They were officers in the organized forces of a revolution which had continued many weeks and was in control of about half of the republic, and as such, according to the modern enlightened practice of civilized nations, they were entitled to be dealt with as prisoners of war.

At the date when this message is printed this government has terminated diplomatic relations with the Zelaya government for reasons made public in a communication to the former Nicaraguan charge d'affaires and is intending to take such future steps as may be found most consistent with its dignity, its duty to American interests and its moral obligations to Central America and to civilization. It may later be necessary for me to bring this subject to the attention of the congress in a special message.

In the Far East.

In the far east this government preserves unchanged its policy of supporting the principle of equality of opportunity and scrupulous respect for the integrity of the Chinese empire, to which policy are pledged the interested powers of both east and west.

By the treaty of 1903 China has undertaken the abolition of likin with a moderate and proportionate raising of the customs tariff along with currency reform. These reforms being a manifest advantage to foreign commerce as well as to the interests of China, this government is endeavoring to facilitate these measures and the needful acquiescence of the treaty powers. When it appeared that Chinese likin revenues were to be hypothecated to foreign bankers in connection with a great railway project it was obvious that the governments whose nationals held this loan would have a certain direct interest in the question of the carrying out by China of the reforms in question. The administration deemed American participation to be of great national interest. Happily, when it was as a matter of broad policy urgent that this opportunity should not be lost, the indispensable instrumentality presented itself when a group of American bankers of international reputation and great resources agreed at once to share in the loan upon precisely such terms as this government should approve. The chief of those terms was that American railway material should be upon an exact equality with that of the other nationals joining in the loan in the placing of orders for this whole railroad system. After months of negotiation the equal participation of Americans seems at last assured.

In one of the Chinese-Japanese conventions of Sept. 1 of this year there was a provision which caused considerable public apprehension in that upon its face it was believed in some quarters to seek to establish a monopoly of mining privileges along the South Manchurian and Antung-Mukden railroads and thus to exclude Americans from a wide field of enterprise, to take part in which they were by treaty with China entitled. After a thorough examination of the conventions and of the several contestal documents the secretary of state reached the conclusion that no such monopoly was intended or accomplished. This government made inquiry of the Imperial Chinese and Japanese governments and received from each official assurance that the provision had no purpose inconsistent with the policy of equality of opportunity to which the signatories, in common with the United States, are pledged.

Our traditional relations with the Japanese empire continue cordial, as usual. The arrangement of 1908 for a co-operative control of the coming of laborers to the United States has proved to work satisfactorily. The matter of a revision of the existing treaty between the United States and Japan which is terminable in 1912 is already receiving the study of both countries.

The Department of State.

I earnestly recommend to the favorable action of the congress the estimates submitted by the department of state and most especially the legislation suggested in the secretary of state's letter of this date whereby it will be possible to develop and make permanent the reorganization of the department upon modern lines in a manner to make it a thoroughly efficient instrument in the furtherance of our foreign trade and of American interests abroad.

Under a provision of the act of Aug. 5, 1909, I have appointed three officials to assist the officers of the government in collecting information necessary to a wise administration of the tariff act of Aug. 5, 1909. As to questions of customs administration they are co-operating with the officials of the treasury department and as to matters of the needs and the exigencies of our manufacturers and exporters with the department of commerce and labor in its relation to the domestic aspect of the subject of foreign commerce.

As a consequence of section 2 of the tariff act of Aug. 5, 1909, it becomes the duty of the secretary of state to conduct as diplomatic business all the negotiations necessary to place him in a position to advise me as to whether or not a particular country unduly discriminates against the United States in the sense of the statute referred to.

Government Expenditures and Revenues.

Perhaps the most important question presented to this administration is that of economy in expenditures and sufficiency of revenue.

The report of the secretary shows that the ordinary expenditures for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1910, will exceed the estimated receipts by $34,075,620. If to this deficit are added the sum to be disbursed for the Panama canal, amounting to $38,000,000, and $1,000,000 to be paid on the public debt, the deficit of ordinary receipts and expenditures will be increased to a total deficit of $73,075,620. This deficit the secretary proposes to meet by the proceeds of bonds issued to pay the cost of constructing the Panama canal. I approve this proposal.

The Panama Canal.

The policy of paying for the construction of the Panama canal out of current revenue, but by bond issue, was adopted in the Spooner act of 1902, and there seems to be no good reason for departing from the principle by which a part at least of the burden of the cost of the canal shall fall upon our posterity, who are to enjoy it, and there is all the more reason for this view because the actual cost to date of the canal, which is now half done and which will be completed Jan. 1, 1915, shows that the cost of engineering and construction will be $207,706,000 instead of $139,705,200, as originally estimated. In addition to engineering and construction, the other expenses, including sanitation and government and the amount paid for the properties, the franchise and the privilege of building the canal, increase the cost by $75,435,000 to a total of $283,141,000. The increase in the cost of engineering and construction is due to a substantial enlargement of the plan of construction by widening the canal 100 feet in the Culebra cut and by increasing the dimensions of the locks, to the underestimate of the quantity of the work to be done under the original plan and to an underestimate of the cost of labor and materials, both of which have greatly enhanced in price since the original estimate was made.

Government Economy.

In order to avoid a deficit for the ensuing fiscal year I directed the heads of departments in the preparation of their estimates to make them as low as possible consistent with imperative governmental necessity. The result has been, as I am advised by the secretary of the treasury, that the estimates of the expenses of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1911—that is, for the next fiscal year—are less by $55,663,000 than the total of appropriations for the current fiscal year and less by $94,000,000 than the estimates for that year. So far as the secretary of the treasury is able to form a judgment as to future income, there will be no deficit in the year ending June 30, 1911, but a small surplus of $712,000.

In the present estimates the needs of the departments and of the government have been cut to the quick.

For the purpose of securing information which may enable the executive and the legislative branches to unite in a plan for the permanent reduction of the cost of governmental administration the treasury department has instituted an investigation by one of the most skilled expert accountants in the United States. The object of the investigation is to devise means to increase the average efficiency of each employee. There is great room for improvement toward this end, not only by the reorganization of bureaus and departments and in the avoidance of duplication, but also in the treatment of the individual employee.

Under the present system it constantly happens that two employees receive the same salary when the work of one is far more difficult and important and exacting than that of the other. Superior ability is not rewarded or encouraged.

Civil Pensions.

As the degree of efficiency in all the departments is much lessened by the retention of old employees who have outlived their energy and usefulness it is indispensable to any proper system of economy that provision be made so that their separation from the service shall be easy and inevitable. It is impossible to make such provision unless there is adopted a plan of civil pensions. We cannot, in view of the advancing prices of living, hope to save money by a reduction in the standard of salaries paid. Indeed, if any change is made in that regard an increase rather than a decrease will be necessary, and the only means of economy will be in reducing the number of employees and in obtaining a greater average of efficiency from those retained in the service.

Frauds in the Collection of Customs.

I regret to refer to the fact of the discovery of extensive frauds in the collection of the customs revenue at New York city, in which a number of the subordinate employees in the weighing and other departments were directly concerned and in which the beneficiaries were the American Sugar Refining company and others. The frauds consisted in the payment of duty on underweights of sugar. The government has recovered from the American Sugar Refining company all that it is shown to have been defrauded of. The sum was received in full of the amount due which might have been recovered by civil action against the beneficiary of the fraud, but there was an excess reservation in the contract of settlement by which the settlement should not interfere with or prevent the criminal prosecution of every one who was found to be subject to the same.

Criminal prosecutions are now proceeding against a number of the government officers. The treasury department and the department of justice are exerting every effort to discover all the wrongdoers, including the officers and employees of the companies who may have been privy to the fraud. It would seem to me that an investigation of the frauds by congress at present, pending the probing by the treasury department and the department of justice, as proposed, might by giving immunity and otherwise prove an embarrassment in securing conviction of the guilty parties.

Maximum and Minimum Clause in Tariff Act.

Two features of the new tariff act call for special reference. In order that the maximum duty shall be charged against the imports from a country it is necessary that the executive shall find on the part of that country not only discriminations in its laws or the practice under them against the trade of the United States, but that the discriminations found shall be undue—that is, without good and fair reason. No one is seeking a tariff war or a condition in which the spirit of retaliation shall be aroused.

Tariff Readjustment.

The new tariff law enables me to appoint a tariff board to assist me in connection with the department of state in the administration of the minimum and maximum clause of the act and also to assist officers of the government in the administration of the entire law. I believe that the work of this board will be of prime utility and importance whenever congress shall deem it wise again to readjust the customs duties. If the facts secured by the tariff board are of such a character as to show generally that the rates of duties imposed by the present tariff law are excessive under the principles of protection as described in the platform of the successful party at the late election I shall not hesitate to invite the attention of congress to this fact and to the necessity for action predicated thereon. Nothing, however, halts business and interferes with the course of prosperity so much as the threatened revision of the tariff, and until the facts are at hand, after careful and deliberate investigation, upon which such revision can properly be undertaken, it seems to me unwise to attempt it.

War Department.

In the interest of immediate economy I have required a reduction in the estimates of the war department for the coming fiscal year which brings the total estimates down to an amount forty-five millions less than the corresponding estimates for last year. This could be accomplished only

DEATH OF MRS. HUGHES.

Well-Known and Beloved Lady of Archer Passed Away Last Sunday.

Information of the death of Mrs. Hughes, which sad event occurred at her home in Archer Sunday afternoon, reached this city with regret by her numerous friends and acquaintances here.

Webster was also among those present from Gainesville.

For That Dull Feeling After Eating.

I have used Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for some time, and can testify that they have done me more good than any tablets I have ever used. My trouble was a heavy dull feeling after eating.—David Freeman, Kempt, Nova Scotia. These tablets strengthen the stomach and improve the digestion. They also regulate the liver and bowels. They are far superior to pills but cost no more. Get a free sample at any drug store and see what a splendid medicine it is.

Funeral of Mrs. Avera.

The funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Alex Avera, the sad death of whom occurred Sunday noon, were held from the residence at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. Revs. S. B. Rogers and F. R. Bridges officiating.

The services at the home were largely attended, and many followed the remains to their last resting-place in Evergreen cemetery. The floral offerings were many and beautiful.

ADVICE TO WOMEN

A Message From a Famous Beauty Specialist to Women Lacking in Energy and Vitality.

Thousands of women vainly attempt to improve their complexion and to remove blackheads, crows' feet and other blemishes, through the use of cosmetics. This treatment fails because the trouble lies far deeper than the skin. They are suffering from impure and impoverished blood. This condition is in many cases due to a catarrhal condition of the whole system which finds its expression in sallow, muddy complexion, dark-circled eyes, general weakness of the system, and perhaps most plainly in the weeping of mucous membranes that is commonly called catarrh.

In fact this whole tendency is, properly speaking, catarrh. Banish this catarrh, and the complexion will clear as if by magic, eyes will brighten, faces become rosy and shoulders erect. Perfect beauty goes only with perfect health, and perfect health for women can only be obtained through one certain treatment—that which will cure catarrh.

Mme. Swift, New York, the famous beauty specialist known throughout the world and an accepted authority on all relating thereto, states that the one positive and permanent relief for catarrh is Rexall Mucu-Tone. Here is her letter:

"I can strongly endorse the claims made for Rexall Mucu-Tone as a cure for systemic catarrh. Its tonic effects are remarkable. It builds up the strength and restores vitality. If women who are tired and run down, lacking in energy and vitality, will use Rexall Mucu-Tone, they will praise as I do its strengthening and healing qualities."

Rexall Mucu-Tone works through the blood, acting thus upon the mucous cells—the congestion and inflammation of which causes local catarrh. This remedy causes poison to be expelled from the system, and the blood is purified and revitalized. Thus the natural functions of the mucous cells are restored, and the membranes are cleansed and made strong. We know that Rexall Mucu-Tone does relieve catarrh. We positively guarantee to refund the money paid us for this remedy in every case where the user is dissatisfied. It is a builder of vigorous health and a creator of good complexions. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Mail orders filled. It may be obtained only at our store—The Rexall Store. J. W. McCollum & Co., corner East Main and Union street.

COL. MATHESON RETURNS.

Delivered Memorial Address Before
Orlando Elks Sunday Afternoon.

Hon. Christopher Matheson has returned from Orlando, where, on Sunday afternoon, he delivered the memorial address before Orlando Lodge No. 1079, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

Col. Matheson states that this meeting was largely attended, the commodious lodge room being well filled with the select element of the South Florida city. The program from both a literary and musical nature was fine, including in the musical feature a chorus of forty voices.

Col. Matheson was well pleased at the hospitality extended him at the hands of the order and the good people generally while he was their guest.

Mr. Smith Gone.

J. F. Smith, who has for many years been engaged in the photograph business in this city, but who recently disposed of his interests here to W. M. Vansickle, returned to his former home in Jacksonville Monday, where he will again take up his residence. Before leaving Mr. Smith called at The Sun office and had his name enrolled on the subscription list, as he said he wanted to keep posted on Gainesville and its happenings.

....HENRY TIMROD....

(By T. Curry Merchant.)

Comparatively little is known of our Southern poets and authors by the public in general. For this reason we have thought it proper on this, the eightieth anniversary of the birth of Henry Timrod, to give a brief account of his life and works.

The poet was born December 8th, 1829, in Charleston, S. C., of an old German family. After suitable preparation he entered the University of Georgia, but left there before finishing his course. He then turned his attention towards law, but soon abandoned this and engaged in teaching. His first book of poems appeared in 1860, and, had he been left free to continue in his work, he would have undoubtedly carved a high name for himself.

As it was, however, the Civil War was just bursting upon the country, and, true to his native State, Timrod entered the Confederate army. It was about this time that he wrote a number of martial poems which considerably aroused his fellow-countrymen to action. On account of ill health, though, Timrod was forced to leave the ranks of the army, and thereupon became a war correspondent.

In 1864 he became editor of The South Carolinian, but a short time thereafter, suffering from poverty and grieving over the loss of his dearly beloved son, he himself answered the final summons and was laid to rest in Trinity church yard in Columbia.

Thus Henry Timrod died at the early age of thirty-eight. Had he attained to a ripe old age, and had circumstances been more favorable, there is no telling to what extent his poetic genius would have expressed itself. As it is, however, he has left comparatively little work behind him, and this, as Trent says, marred by the effects which constant sickness and poverty and the stress of war necessarily had upon his genius; but he has left a few singularly beautiful poems, and one at least, the ode written for the occasion of the decoration of the Confederate graves in Magnolia cemetery, that approximates perfection. Among his other poems, mostly pertaining to the great Civil War, are "Carolina," "The Cotton Boll," "A Common Thought," "The Lily Confidante," "Ethnogenesis," "Charleston," "The Two Armies," "The Unknown Dead," and others.

Gems From Timrod.

"As it purples in the zenith,
And it brightens on the lawn,
There's a hush of death about me,
And a whisper, He is gone."

"Love's the lover's only magic,
Truth the very subtlest art;
Love that feigns, and lips that flatter,
Win no modest heart."

"Like the dewdrop in my bosom,
Be the guideless language, youth;
Falsehood buyeth falsehood only,
Truth must purchase truth."

"We know not; in the temple of the Fates
God has inscribed her doom;
And, all untroubled in her faith, she waits
The triumph of the tomb."

"Sleep sweetly in your humble graves,
Sleep, martyrs of a fallen cause;
Though yet no marble column craves
The pilgrim here to pause."

"In seeds of laurel in the earth
The blossom of your fame is blown,
And somewhere, waiting for its birth,
The shaft is in the stone!"

"Meanwhile, behalf the tardy years Which keep in trust your storied tombs,
Behold! your sisters bring their tears
And these memorial blooms."

"Small tribute! but your shades will smile
More proudly on these wreaths today,
Than when some cannon moulded pile Shall overlook this bay."

"Scoop, angels, hither from the skies!
There is no holier spot of ground
Than where defeated valor lies,
By mourning beauty crowned!"

ROBBER FOUND AT EARLY MORNING HOUR

ENTERED HOME OF L. J. BURKHIM
AND WAS GIVEN CHASE.

Screams of Young Lady Awoke Mr.
Anderson, Who Went Immediately to the Rescue With a Gun.

Parasitism and burglary seems to be a fashionable fad in Gainesville these days, but if the perpetrators of these crimes are ever apprehended they will no doubt be another story to relate.

The latest depredation was in the home of L. J. Burkheim, East Main street N., and that occurred about 2 o'clock Tuesday morning, when the burglar, after he had gained access to the house, was frightened away without accomplishing his purpose, so far as can be learned.

About two o'clock Tuesday morning W. H. Anderson, who rooms at the home of Mr. Dedge, next door to the Burkheim home, was awakened by hearing a woman's screams, and immediately arose to the necessity of the occasion. Having been informed by Miss Ida Burkheim that there was a burglar in the house, he loaded his gun and went to the rescue. Mr.
Anderson reached his window just in time to see the intruder drop from one of the side windows of the Burkheim home. It was quite dark and there were some trees between the two houses and this prevented Mr.
Anderson from getting good aim at the burglar. He fired several times at the fleeing form in the darkness, but it is not known whether his aim was good or not.

This is the third depredation within the past few days, and it is hoped that the guilty party, who is no doubt one and the same, will be apprehended within the next few attempts.

A Hearty Appetite

Is what most babies have, but is of no benefit to them if they have worms.
Be sure your baby is not troubled with them. Sure symptoms—always hungry, rings under the eyes, not gaining in weight and yellow complexion. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will expel all worms. It is a positive cure and reliable. Price 25 cents per bottle. Sold by W. M.
Johnson.

NEEDFUL KNOWLEDGE

Gainesville People Should Learn to Detect the Approach of Kidney Disease.

The symptoms of kidney trouble are so unmistakable that they leave no ground for doubt. Sick kidneys ex-crete a thick, cloudy, offensive urine, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding.
The back aches constantly, headaches and dizzy spells may occur and the victim is often weighed down by a feeling of languor and fatigue. Neglect these warnings and there is danger of dropsy, Bright's Disease, or diabetes.
Any one of these symptoms is warning enough to begin treating the kidneys at once. Delay often proves fatal.

You can use no better remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's Gainesville proof:

Mrs. James Doig, 302 Alachua avenue, Gainesville, Fla., says: "It is now some time since I used Doan's Kidney Pills and I am glad to say that I have had no need of a kidney remedy. Several years ago Doan's Kidney Pills drove away a severe attack of kidney trouble and time has proven the cure to be a permanent one. I take pleasure in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo,

SUNDAY SCHOOL SERVICES.

Three Sessions of Institute Will Be Held at Baptist Church Today.

The Sunday school institute at the Baptist church had a session last night and will have three sessions today.

At 9 a. m. Mrs. Brown of Tampa will meet the teachers and mothers of children under 12 years of age.
This meeting was postponed yesterday on account of the rain.

All of the elementary workers in all the Sunday schools of the city are asked to come and meet Mrs. Brown.
Every teacher of boys and girls of 12 years of age and under will be especially interested. All mothers of children of these ages are cordially invited also. Mrs. Brown will discuss the work of the cradle roll, beginners', primary and junior departments. Mrs.
Brown is superintendent of the primary department of the First Baptist Sunday school of Tampa and is destined to be one of the foremost workers with children in the State. It is a great opportunity for the ladies of Gainesville to hear this teacher.

At 10 o'clock this morning Messrs.
Flake and Crossland will speak on some subject of interest to all Sunday school officers and teachers.

At 3 Messrs. Flake and Crossland will again address the interested Sunday school workers.

At 7:30 tonight the institute will close with addresses from Messrs.
Flake and Crossland on some line of general Sunday school interest.

All the workers of all denominations are cordially invited to attend these services.

This institute is one of a series held all over the State by Rev. Louis Entzminger of the Baptist State Mission Board. He has secured for these institutes Mrs. Brown of Tampa, Mr.
C. E. Crossland of Nashville, Tenn., and Mr. Arthur Flake of Baldwin, Miss. The last two named are field secretaries of the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board of Nashville.
They are both laymen who are giving their attention to better Sunday school work. Their work is of a definite character.

It is expected that a large number will attend the three services today.

The Ministerial Association.

The Gainesville Ministerial Association met on Monday afternoon, but owing to the absence of some members of the association, the meeting was postponed until next Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when it is hoped that a full membership will be present.

The Correct Time

To stop a cough or cold is just as soon as it starts—then there will be no danger of pneumonia or consumption. Just a few doses of Ballard's Horehound Syrup taken at the start will stop the cough. If it has been running on for sometime the treatment will be longer, but the cure is sure. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

his condition is little improved, if any.
A report was current several days has resigned that position, and will come to Gainesville with his family.

He has secured the Arnold home on warmly welcomed.

The glamor of some marked external quality in a man may deceive others for a time as to the moral faults within.

The large number of apparently successful land swindlers in the country shows that there are lots of people always ready to be victimized.

The readiness with which some people make a promise is equalled by their readiness to break it. Generally the man who is slowest in making a promise is the most faithful in keeping it.

With what serenity of mind people view the workings of providence when things are going their way; but how different is their feeling when providence gives them some severe jolts and bumps.

It is not possible to make evil good, but it is possible to get good out of evil, and it is our duty so to do. If we do not our character will deteriorate, and ultimately, instead of getting good out of evil, we shall get evil out of good.

When some great calamity occurs there are always people whose sympathy is confined to tears and sighs. Such sympathy is but maudlin sentimentalism. True sympathy expresses the most common form of sympathy itself in practical forms as well as in tears and regrets, and happily that is the most common form of sympathy in this land of ours.

There has been considerable talk recently about the extension of the territory of the District of Columbia so as to take in Alexandria and portions of Virginia, which were at one time a part of the District. The re-annexing of portions of Alexandria county is not a local question but will affect the State of Virginia. The reason for re-annexation lies mainly in the condition of the Potomac river flats and swamps unreclaimed which affect the health and appearance of the city of Washington.

This is supposed to be a scientific and practical age, and as such to be far above charlatanism and imposture. Yet it is doubtful if fakirs, mediums and other such characters ever flourished more than they now do. Perhaps one of the most conspicuous of these is the possibly self-deluded W. T. Stead of London, who professes to have communication with a spirit whom he calls "Julia." This fair spirit has been telling Stead about interviews she says she has had with Gladstone, but the language ascribed to Gladstone is very like Stead's own. And anyway, Gladstone seems to have degenerated in the other world, which is not much of an encouragement for people who want to go there.

RICH AND POOR CRIMINALS.

If a poor man, impelled by his poverty, succumbs to temptation and robs a wood pile or coal yard to keep his family from freezing in the cold winter time he is regarded as a terrible example of human depravity, and if he is caught he is usually speedily sentenced to prison. There is no motion for a new trial, neither are efforts made to have the sentence suspended or the prison term shortened on some flimsy pretense. Is this because the man is poor and therefore a stern example must be made of him?

But if the wrong doer happens to be a member of a gigantic trust that has robbed the public, not to stave off poverty, but to swell already gigantic fortunes, all the machinery possible is set in motion to prevent a trial, or, if that cannot be prevented, to secure his acquittal through some legal technicality. If, in spite of all efforts put forth, the man is found guilty, then still more machinery operates to prevent the law taking its course.

Such inequality of justice is too often seen, and it breeds discontent and gives color to the idea that there is one law for the rich and another law for the poor, especially when the poor criminal is sent to prison, while the trust criminal if pronounced guilty, is let off with a fine which he can at once pay without feeling the loss. Before the law, in practice as well as theory, there should be no difference between rich and poor.

Perhaps the number of people who die from underwork is greater than that of those who die from overwork. When one suffers a break down owing to undue mental or physical strain it causes considerable comment about the danger of overwork. But every year thousands die from underwork, and little comment is made, because people seldom associate laziness with disease and illness. Yet the connection is oftentimes close. If work strengthens the mind and body and is conducive to health, as is rightly supposed, then it naturally follows that the man who shirks work is mentally and physically less strong and healthy than the man who does work, and is therefore less able to combat illness when it comes. Then, too, a man must do something, and if he will not work he usually manages to form bad habits that tend to shorten his career.

Apparently the sugar trust frauds is the greatest business iniquity this nation has ever experienced. The more it is probed the worse it gets, and yet there is promise of still worse things to come. What the public demands is an investigation so thorough and so unhampered by red tape that no guilty man can possibly escape. There are sinister reports that high officials are smirched with corruption. We are aware that when scandals of this character are brought to light sensational and unfounded reports are flung far and wide. But whether the charges as to high officials are true or false can only be determined by an impartial investigation, and in the interest of business and of the nation such investigation is imperative. Neither fear nor favor should prevent it.

It is said that one of the two men who claim to have discovered the North Pole is suffering from nervous prostration as the result of the controversy concerning their claims. A large number of people who have been following that controversy are suffering in much the same way.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Now is the season when mail order houses are flocking the country with their advertisements and catalogues. The way for home merchants to successfully meet such opposition is not by complaining and growling, which has the effect of driving away business, but by imitating far more than they do the methods of their competitors. Mail order houses believe in letting people know what they have to offer. Too many local merchants act the other way and then complain of dull trade. Such merchants can make no headway against outside competition. But the merchant who keeps the goods and attractively advertises them has the advantage every time. Such merchants always have a cheerful smile, because business is good with them.

Feudalism is not altogether a thing of the past in England. In vexatious ways the powers of the nobility are still exerted. The Duke of Devonshire has prohibited the villagers on his estate from keeping poultry. A tenant farmer, and they are mostly tenant farmers, must not kill a pheasant or any other game on his farm, however much harm they may do. No wonder the feeling against the lords is almost at white heat on the budget question.

It is always right to take a serious view of life, but that does not by any means imply a sad view. Neither are we to think every moment of our life is so important that the day of judgment depends upon it.

As real estate is the only true basis of wealth, so is it the basis of domestic happiness, and the highest human endeavor, for who can think of perfect domestic happiness in a rented home, and what man ever attained the fullness of his stature either as husband, father or citizen, who had no home he could call his own? Such a man has not only dwarfed himself, but has robbed his wife of one of the sweetest joys of woman's existence, and his children of childhood's proudest and best heritage, the memories of home. The foundation of society, municipalities, States and governments, began with the owning of homes, and civilization has progressed only in such measure as the love of home and country has grown in the hearts of men. Every living thing has a home, save the improvident man. It may be humble, and may be far from satisfactory, but it is a home. The improvident man, he and his, are the only homeless things upon the earth. Be not such a man. OWN YOUR OWN HOME. WE WILL HELP YOU.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

by cutting off new projects and suspending for the period of one year all progress in military matters. For the same reason I have directed that the army shall not be recruited up to its present authorized strength. These measures can hardly be more than temporary, for I am sure that the interests of the military establishment are seriously in need of careful consideration by congress.

The secretary of war calls attention to a number of needed changes in the army, in all of which I concur, but the point upon which I place most emphasis is the need for an elimination bill providing a method by which the merits of officers shall have some effect upon their advancement and by which the advancement of all may be accelerated by the effective elimination of a definite proportion of the least efficient.

The military and naval joint board have unanimously agreed that it would be unwise to make the large expenditures which at one time were contemplated in the establishment of a naval base and station in the Philippine Islands and have expressed their judgment, in which I fully concur, in favor of making an extensive naval base at Pearl Harbor, near Honolulu, and not in the Philippines.

The Navy.

The return of the battleship fleet from its voyage around the world in more efficient condition than when it started was a noteworthy event of interest alike to our citizens and the naval authorities of the world. The marked success of the ships in steaming around the world in all weathers on schedule time has increased respect for our navy and has added to our national prestige.

It is a regrettable fact that the higher officers are old for the responsibilities of the modern navy, and the admirals do not arrive at flag rank young enough to obtain adequate training in their duties as flag officers.

Owing to the necessity for economy in expenditures, I have directed the curtailment of recommendations for naval appropriations so that they are thirty-eight millions less than the corresponding estimates of last year, and the request for new naval construction is limited to two first class battleships and one repair vessel.

The secretary of the navy has inaugurated a tentative plan involving certain changes in the organization of the navy department, including the navy yards, all of which have been found by the attorney general to be in accordance with law. I have approved the execution of the plan proposed because of the greater efficiency and economy it promises.

Department of Justice—Expedition in Legal Procedure.

The deplorable delays in the administration of civil and criminal law have received the attention of committees of the American Bar association and of many state bar associations as well as the considered thought of judges and jurists. In my judgment, a change in public procedure, with a view to reducing its expense to private litigants in civil cases and facilitating the dispatch of business and final decision in both civil and criminal cases, constitutes the greatest need in our American institutions. I do not doubt for one moment that much of the lawless violence and cruelty exhibited in lynchings are directly due to the uncertainties and injustice growing out of the delays in trials, judgments and the executions thereof by our courts.

I therefore recommend legislation providing for the appointment by the president of a commission with authority to examine the law and equity procedure of the federal courts of first instance, the law of appeals from those courts to the courts of appeals and to the supreme court and the costs imposed in such procedure upon the private litigants and upon the public treasury and make recommendation with a view to simplifying and expediting the procedure as far as possible and making it as inexpensive as may be to the litigant of little means.

The platform of the successful party in the last election contained the following:

Injunctions Without Notice.

"We believe that the rules of procedure in the federal courts with respect to the issuance of the writ of injunction should be more accurately defined by statute and that no injunction or temporary restraining order should be issued without notice, except where irreparable injury would result from delay, in which case a speedy hearing thereafter should be granted."

I recommend that in compliance with the promise thus made appropriate legislation be adopted. Moreover, every such injunction or restraining order issued without previous notice and opportunity by the defendant to be heard should by force of the statute expire and be of no effect after seven days from the issuance thereof or within any time less than that period which the court may fix unless within such seven days or such less period the injunction or order is extended or renewed after previous notice and opportunity to be heard.

Anti-trust and Interstate Commerce Laws.

The jurisdiction of the general government over interstate commerce has led to the passage of the so called "Sherman anti-trust law" and the "interstate commerce law" and its amendments. The developments in the operation of those laws call for a discussion and some suggestions as to amendments. These I prefer to embody in a special message.

Postoffice Department—Second Class Mail Matter.

The deficit every year in the postoffice department is largely caused by the low rate of postage of 1 cent a pound charged on second class mail matter, which includes not only newspapers, but magazines and miscellaneous periodicals. The actual loss growing out of the transmission of this second class mail matter at 1 cent a pound amounts to about $63,000,000 a year. The average cost of the transportation of this matter is more than 9 cents a pound. The statistics of 1907 show that second class mail matter constituted 63.91 per cent of the weight of all the mail and yielded only 5.19 per cent of the revenue.

The figures given are startling and show the payment by the government of an enormous subsidy to the newspapers, magazines and periodicals. A great saving might be made, amounting to much more than half of the loss, by imposing upon magazines and periodicals a higher rate of postage.

Postal Savings Banks.

I believe postal savings banks to be necessary in order to offer a proper inducement to thrift and saving to a great many people of small means who do not now have banking facilities and to whom such a system would offer an opportunity for the accumulation of capital. They will furnish a satisfactory substitute, based on sound principle and actual successful trial in nearly all the countries of the world, for the system of government guaranty of deposits now being adopted in several western states which, with deference to those who advocate it, seems to me to have in it the seeds of demoralization to conservative banking and certain financial disaster.

Ship Subsidy.

Following the course of my distinguished predecessor, I earnestly recommend to congress the consideration and passage of a ship subsidy bill.

Interior Department—New Mexico and Arizona.

The successful party in the last election in its national platform declared in favor of the admission as separate states of New Mexico and Arizona, and I recommend that legislation appropriate to this end be adopted.

Alaska.

With respect to the territory of Alaska, I recommend legislation which shall provide for the appointment by the president of a governor and also of an executive council, the members of which shall during their term of office reside in the territory and which shall have legislative powers sufficient to enable it to give to the territory local laws adapted to its present growth. I strongly deprecate legislation looking to the election of a territorial legislature in that vast district.

Conservation of Natural Resources.

In several departments there is presented the necessity for legislation looking to the further conservation of our national resources, and the subject is one of such importance as to require a more detailed and extended discussion than can be entered upon in this communication. For that reason I shall take an early opportunity to send a special message to congress.

The White Slave Trade.

There is urgent necessity for additional legislation and greater executive activity to suppress the recruiting of the ranks of prostitutes from the streams of immigration into this country—an evil which, for want of a better name, has been called "the white slave trade."

Bureau of Health.

There seems to be no reason why all the bureaus and offices in the general government which have to do with the public health or subjects akin thereto should not be united in a bureau to be called the "bureau of public health."

Political Contributions.

I urgently recommend to congress that a law be passed requiring that candidates in elections of members of the house of representatives and committees in charge of their candidacy and campaign file in a proper office of the United States government a statement of the contributions received and of the expenditures incurred in the campaign for such elections and that similar legislation be enacted in respect to all other elections which are constitutionally within the control of congress.

Conclusion.

Speaking generally, the country is in a high state of prosperity. There is every reason to believe that we are on the verge of a substantial business expansion, and we have just garnered a harvest unexampled in the market value of our agricultural products. The high prices which such products bring mean great prosperity for the farming community; but, on the other hand, they mean a very considerably increased burden upon those classes in the community whose yearly compensation does not expand with the improvement in business and the general prosperity. Various reasons are given for the high prices. The proportionate increase in the output of gold, which today is the chief medium of exchange and is in some respects a measure of value, furnishes a substantial explanation of at least part of the increase in prices. The increase in population and the more expensive mode of living of the people, which have not been accompanied by a proportionate increase in acreage production, may furnish a further reason. It is well to note that the increase in the cost of living is not confined to this country, but prevails the world over, and that those who would charge increases in prices to the existing protective tariff must meet the fact that the rise in prices has taken place almost wholly in those products of the factory and farm in respect to which there has been either no increase in the tariff or in many instances a very considerable reduction.

A Prominent Visitor.

Among the prominent visitors to Gainesville is A. deSola Mendes of Savannah, first vice-president of the Tampa and Jacksonville railway, who is here looking after his official duties.

Mr. Mendes has only been recently elected to the position of first vice-president of the T. & J. He is a young man of exceptional energy and executive ability, and great things are expected through his efforts and the efforts of his colleagues within the next few months, if the merchants and shippers of Gainesville and vicinity stand by the road in the matter of patronizing them.

Mr. Mendes is well pleased with Gainesville, and feels that the Tampa and Jacksonville will receive the hearty support of the business men under the new regime. He took occasion to pay General Manager A. L. Glass a high compliment as to his ability, executive and otherwise.

WHAT IS HYOMEI?

You Have Heard About the Catarrh Cure J. W. McCollum & Co. Guarantee.

Hyomei is a wonderful antiseptic, so powerful that it promptly destroys germ life, yet its action on the mucous membrane is extremely soothing and healing. It relieves catarrh in five minutes; it cures in a few weeks or money back.

It is made chiefly of eucalyptus and eucalyptol taken from the eucalyptus forests of inland Australia. The medical profession knows that eucalyptus is an absolutely certain germ destroyer and with the active principles of eucalyptus as a base Hyomei is made more efficient, pleasant and quick acting by the addition of Thymol, an antiseptic and disinfectant largely employed in the Listerian System. Gualacal and other important medicinal agents are also included in the Hyomei formula, which, without doubt, is the greatest destroyer of catarrh germs the world has ever known.

Hyomei is a powerful, penetrating antiseptic that is pleasant to use. It does not contain a particle of cocaine, opium or any habit-forming or injurious drug.

No dosing the stomach when you use Hyomei. Just breathe it in through the small inhaler that comes with each outfit. Sold by leading druggists everywhere and in Gainesville by J. W. McCollum & Co. $1.00 for complete outfit.

ECZEMA FROM HEAD TO FOOT

For Six Months his Suffering was Beyond Words—One Mass of Irritation and Itching was Dreadful—Slept Only from Sheer Exhaustion—Almost Out of His Mind—After 24 Hours' Use of Cuticura Slept Like an Infant and Then was

CURED IN ONE MONTH BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I am seventy-seven years old and one day, some years ago, I fell from a step-ladder, bruising my heel. In a few days I could not walk. I called in a doctor and inside of a week erysipelas set in. The doctor had not cured me of that when I was taken with eczema from head to foot. I was sick for six months and what I suffered tongue could not tell. I could not sleep day or night because of that dreadful itching; when I did sleep it was from sheer exhaustion. I was one mass of irritation; it was even in my scalp. The doctor's medicine seemed to make me worse and I was almost out of my mind. I read of Cuticura and sent my wife to the druggist, who was a member of my lodge of Odd Fellows, for a set of the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent. I used them persistently for twenty-four hours. That night I slept like an infant, the first solid night's sleep I had had for six months. I was not afraid to use plenty of Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap with hot water and in a week's time I was able to put on my clothes again. In a month I was cured. From that day to this I cannot praise the Cuticura Remedies too highly. I may add that I have a very heavy head of hair which I owe to Cuticura. W. Harrison Smith, R.F.D. 2, Mt. Kisco, N. Y., Feb. 3, '08."

A single set of the Cuticura Remedies is often sufficient for the treatment of the most torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning and scaly humors, eczemas, rashes and irritations, with loss of hair, from infancy to age, when all other remedies fail. Guaranteed absolutely pure and may be used from the hour of birth. Cuticura Soap (25c), Ointment (50c), Resolvent (50c), and Chocolate Coated Pills (25c), are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., 137 Columbus Ave., Boston. Mailed Free, Cuticura Book on Skin Diseases.

CARD OF THANKS

From the Woman's Guild of Holy Trinity Church.

First, we beg to thank the Masons, for the use of their beautiful building. It was a noble impulse that prompted them to erect such a magnificent temple, and most generous of them to offer us the use of it.

Our many friends have been most thoughtful in contributing to our bazaar, and we take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation, not only for their generous contributions, but for their most liberal patronage, in spite of the inclement weather.

We also wish to thank The Sun for the use of its columns for our advertising. For many years this faithful Sun has given light to the Gainesville public. Long may it live and prosper.

THE "KNOW HOW" PUT INTO EXECUTION

is what is creating such a great demand for pressing done our new way. Every little feature is given the closest attention and no piece of work is allowed to leave our hands until it is carefully inspected to see that it comes up to the high standard we have set. "We're goin' some."

NEW INTO COURT UPON A STRETCHER

AUGUSTINE SANDBAGGING CASE STILL A MYSTERY.

Charged With Inflicting Injury Stranger Discharged for Lack of Evidence.

AUGUSTINE, Dec. 7.—Judge's court room was filled yesterday with a curious crowd had congregated to hear the case of Cleve Harris, who was given a preliminary hearing as a suspect in a mysterious sandbagging, or as it was called, which occurred here about a week ago. There was no evidence against Harris and he was discharged yesterday.

The nature of the hearing which attracted the crowd was the mysterious case of a man who appeared in a stretcher. The patient was unable to sit up and his mind is so far as the past is concerned he did not recognize Harris and he did not give any evidence that implicated the prisoner in any manner. Perry then offered a motion for the State that the case be discharged, which the court so ruled.

This leaves the case in a more mysterious phase than ever before. Neither the authorities nor the Red Men, who are taking a great interest in the case, have any positive clues to work upon. Various rumors are going the rounds as to many theories, but no one in authority can speak with certainty. The patient can give no information evidently and his condition is as puzzling as ever. He has not yet been positively identified in spite of the fact that his brothers in the Red Men are receiving no end of letters and telegrams from all over the country from people who are looking for lost friends.

Those in charge of the case hope to positively identify the man within a few days.

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT

W. H. Swift Arrested, But Discharged for Want of Prosecution.

W. H. Swift, colored, was arrested a few days ago by Sheriff Ramsey upon a charge of embezzlement, the warrant being sworn out by L. D. Thompson, another negro, who charged that Swift had misappropriated $40 belonging to him.

Swift was brought to this city Saturday, and his case was continued before Judge Mason until Monday morning, but when the defendant was arraigned the prosecuting witness was not on hand, and the case was dismissed for want of prosecution.

It is stated that the case was satisfied by a compromise outside of the court.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodnow and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Goodnow, regular winter visitors to Gainesville who own a handsome home on East Church street, arrived in the city yesterday from Keene, N. H., and their friends were glad to welcome them, and to note that they are looking fine from their summer's outing.

Attention is called to the advertisement of the Eagle Bakery, one of Gainesville's latest business enterprises, which appears elsewhere in this issue. This bakery will be conducted along strictly sanitary lines, under the direction of experienced bakers, and will no doubt prove a winner with our people.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Graves have arrived in the city from York, Nebraska, and are pleasantly located for the winter at their cozy little cottage, 308 West Court street—and their "Cracker friends" are delighted to welcome them again. They have been at their Nebraska home but little the past summer, having spent the greater part of the time in Colorado, where they enjoyed a good time and fine health.
